INTRODUCTION

Owner and founder, Nick Carter, has over 30 years of security experience, and has created a professional, transparent and multidisciplinary security business that meets the ever increasing needs of a national client base whilst adhering to the strict code set by the Security Industry Authority (SIA).

OUR VALUES

Our mission is to not only offer a comprehensive range of professional security services to the widest of market sectors, but to be a security company that delivers those services to the highest standard of customer service. We adhere to the strictest code of ethics as dictated not just by the law; but by the common decency and collective humanity.

Innovation

We work hard to find security solutions that fit the needs of your business and your budget.

Safe and Secure

All of our security guards are SIA licensed and we never subcontract staff, ensuring our clients receive the very best security.

Competitive Pricing

Our pricing reflects the quality of the service you'll receive.

Reliable

Extensive experience, quality training and remote management software means we offer a reliable service you can depend on.

MEET THE TEAM

WE ARE HERE TO HELP

Our business headquarters are based in the historic market town of Wisbech. Together, we carry out operations throughout the UK for a variety of national, regional and local clients from a number of industry sectors.

Nick Carter
Owner and Founder

Alongside a team of experts at our head office, we're proud to support our highly qualified security personnel across the country in reaching their personal professional goals.

We will never subcontract staff, opting instead to hire directly, ensuring every individual has the training and values that align with the high standards we expect.

This means we can support clients with exceptional security, as well as paying our security officers above the national average, reflecting our appreciation to their dedication.

WE MAKE THINGS SIMPLE

WHAT SECURITY SERVICES CAN WE PROVIDE?

We are driven by delivering quality security services that protect your business.

With Carter Solutions and Services Ltd you can expect a bespoke contract to suit the individual needs of your business. This could include a variety of the services listed below, competitively priced and expertly delivered.

Manned guarding is a highly effective way of eliminating criminal damage and theft, making it one of the most proactive security measures that you can take against crime. It is a security service that involves placing security guards at your premises, usually out of hours but sometimes even when staff are still present.

Manned guarding is an excellent step to take in protecting your business. It decreases the opportunity for theft and vandalism, can reduce your insurance costs, and our security guards can raise the alarm should an incident take place at your premises.

The majority of businesses now have their premises protected by audible alarms with key features such as text message alert and CCTV links to a monitoring station. In both cases, we can help. We offer an alarm response service where you would direct the initial text message or call from a monitoring station to our 24 hour alarm response mobile number.

We then deploy a guard in a highly visible and branded vehicle to any site and any location. We will confront and remove any unauthorised person(s), report any criminal damage and theft and contact authorities on your behalf.

We can deploy our concrete blockades, which weigh 2.2 metric tons each, to any site/location throughout the UK.

This offers a temporary or permanent restriction for access. For a small nominal weekly fee (plus delivery and collection), we can place the blockades across your entry point thus restricting vehicle access day or night.

MOBILE PATROLS

Mobile security patrols simply mean security guards that are able to move around your premises to ensure order and report any suspicious behaviour. This allows our security guards to offer security beyond their fixed locations, hence maintaining total security throughout your premises. This might be particularly relevant out of hours, ensuring that there are trained eyes at your premises throughout the night.

Many larger sites already have CCTV in place, but it's important to consider the places that CCTV can't reach, or would be unable to properly monitor during the night when light levels are low.

EVENT SECURITY

All organised events regardless of size require a security presence, if only for health and safety control and supporting social distancing measures.

Our event management team have many years of experience and we can supply full event support starting with organisational and planning assistance, security surveys and assignment instructions.

CCTV

CCTV systems are recognised in business as a fantastic measure against crime and anti-social behaviour.

Our experienced operatives can determine whether any or all alerts are genuine security threats or just simply a false alarm. We deal with the matter in hand, as we also operate an alarm response service.

Our operatives will log any activity and provide you with detailed reports of any incidents, giving you that extra peace of mind that your business is safe.

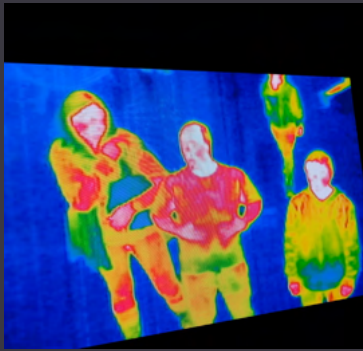

KEYHOLDING

Why take the burden of being the only keyholder to your premise, or having the worry of sending an employee to site to deal with the possible a violent confrontation? We can become a secondary key holder for you.

As per our BS7984 accreditation, your keys are secured safely and not available to anyone without consent of an operator/ manager on shift. We will deploy our alarm response team in a highly visible, branded vehicle to your site on receipt of the alert. We can deal with authorities and any other issue that may arise.

THERMAL IMAGING

What do you do if your business is being attacked in the pitch black of night where no one can be seen or monitored?

With our thermal imaging device we are able to determine whether you have an unauthorized presence in the day or night. The device locates a person(s) by body heat and is clearly visible to the security guard via wi-fi connection to any smart phone, monitor or tablet.

DOOR SUPERVISOR

With a highly trained and fully SIA licensed team of door supervisors, we provide innovative and integrated security.

These solutions are typically to sectors such as the hospitality industry and late night economy, however, door supervisors are a great way to support social distancing measures at business throughout the retail sector too.

When you contract our door supervisor service to protect your staff and members of the general public you can feel confident that the staff we supply are honest, reliable, highly competent, with a smart and professional appearance.

COVID-19 KEYWORKERS

As keyworkers, we support businesses day and night, regardless of lockdowns, tier systems and government guidance. We're proud to support our country in this way.

COVID Marshals

The main principle of a Covid Marshal is to advise and support members of the public and businesses on following social distancing rules. A marshal cannot enforce the rules however, their conflict management and customer relations training assists police and council officers who do have the powers to act.

Where can marshals help:

- Helping businesses manage queues.
- Supporting social distancing in crowded public areas.
- Reminding people to wear face coverings when necessary.
- Assisting with regular cleaning of frequently touched surfaces.

WHAT INDUSTRIES CAN WE SUPPORT?

INDUSTRIAL

Security that protects against internal and external threats.

All aspects of industry are at threat for many reasons - whether this is by an internal or external threat. A security guard aware of HACCP, TACCP and VACCP is essential to the day to day running of any industrial outlet.

CONSTRUCTION

The construction industry is fraught with unwelcome visitors.

It's the responsibility of the security guard to not only secure main gates and vet all entry and exits, but to also enforce any other site regulations such as HSE/PPE.

CORPORATE

Enhance the corporate identity of your business with security.

A security presence maybe required for company events, meetings, personal escort or general building security. It is key that the security guard also has a corporate presence and identity too.

RETAIL

Security that is both welcoming and vigilant at all times.

A retail security guard is, in most cases, the first and last person a member of the public (customer) will see when visiting your store. The security guard must offer upmost support and professionalism whilst adhering to duties.

EDUCATION

Security and safety in schools, colleges and universities.

Blatant and violent breaches of security have catastrophic effects whether you are a parent or teaching professional, therefore the security of any school, college or university should always remain high on the agenda.

LICENSED GAMING

Highly trained security that understand license stipulations.

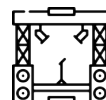

Security officers in the licensed gaming sector need to be aware of Challenge 25, Alcohol Consumption, Drug Awareness and Gambling Addiction in order to maintain excellent security at the premises.

LICENSED HOSPITALITY

Security that supports the hospitality sector.

We can support any area of hospitality, from providing door supervisors to having a much more hands on approach with handling troublesome groups or implementing the 'Ask for Angela' campaign.

EVENTS

Vast knowledge and experience in security of all events.

Carter Security provides event security for a wide range of events, covering (but not limited to) music festivals, sporting events and corporate functions. When planning an event, the security of your staff and guests should always be a top priority.
